

Home Learning Suggested Guide

ASC Provision

As children/young people with autism benefit from daily routines, structure, and predictability, Grange Academy has devised this suggested guide to support you with providing this with remote learning within the home during lockdown.

Please prioritise any provided remote online learning sessions via Zoom or Teams, as timetabled and communicated by your child's class teacher.

Daily Routine	Details	Useful ideas and links
Morning work	Practice reading, spellings, and probes daily with your child provided by your child's class teacher	Websites to access reading books and stories from: Oxford Reading Tree , Books Trust , IXL , Monkey Pen
Activity 1	English, Maths, or Topic Work	Select work tasks from the bespoke work-pack sent home directly by your child's teacher or accessible from Grange website
Break Time	Try to get some fresh air and have a healthy snack	Some ideas from the National Trust to get you out and about
Activity 2	Access online learning activities (you can get log-ins from your child's class teacher as required)	Purple Mash Maths Prodigy Top Marks Kodable BBC Lockdown Learning Twinkl
Lunch Time	Try to encourage your child to help to prepare their own lunch daily to develop and practice their life skills within the home	If you require a visual schedule to support your child with the process and sequence of making their lunch (e.g. how to make a sandwich), please contact us
Physical Activity	Have a movement break	Use: Go Noodle , Yoga , dance , or Joe Wicks body work outs
Activity 3	Creativity: do some baking, practice life skills, play with construction toys (e.g. Lego), or enjoy some artistic activities with your child	Select tasks from the bespoke work-pack sent home directly by your child's teacher or accessible from Grange website

What next?	Please send evidence of your child's learning back to Grange via Evidence Me or email. Your child's class teacher will provide feedback and next steps for learning as required. Thank you.
