| Imagine you are on a pirate ship travelling to a tropical island. Write a short story about your journey there.        | Read daily to an adult and answer three questions about what you have read.                                                         | Pick a British landmark. Design and write an information leaflet about it that would encourage others to visit.                                      | Go to your local shop and buy an item. Work out how much money you will need and how much change you will get.        | Play Monopoly and brush up on your number and money skills. Test your family. How much does rent cost on one house? How much does rent cost on two?                             | Pick a day when you are going out. Think about what time you will need to be ready for, how long you will need and when you will get home.                                                                  |
| Create a 10 question multiple choice quiz about your favourite book and get someone who's read it to answer your quiz. | Practise your spelling daily. Can you write or say one sentence for each of your words?                                             | Visit your local library and choose a novel of your choice and write a short review on it.                                                           | Practise your times tables on TT Rockstars daily.                                                                     | Measure five items in your house. Work out the difference between the longest and shortest, and the total measurement of all the items combined.                                | Time how long it takes everyone in your house to have a shower. What is the difference between the fastest and slowest?                                                                                     |

| Research 3 local landmarks in your area and include some facts.                                                        | Visit a local museum or historic landmark. Make a short fact file about it and include pictures that you have taken.                | Visit in person or online, a local site of religious worship. Write a few bullet points on what you have learned and include pictures if you can.    | Plant some wildflower seeds that will attract pollinating insects. You might like to try and make a butterfly garden. | Try a healthy food you haven't tried before. Write about this experience. What did it taste like? What did it feel like in your mouth? Did you like it? Would you eat it again? | Change your bedding. Putting a clean cover on a duvet can be a tricky task. There are several methods you can use to do this easily. Do some research and try different methods. Time which way is fastest. |
| Look at a map of your local area and plan a walk with your family using public footpaths and bridleways.               | Watch a David Attenborough documentary like 'secret garden' or 'blue planet' and discuss your thoughts with someone at home. | Create a meditative mandala using a variety of different colours and a repeating pattern. You could experiment by using glue and coloured sand/rice. | Take a photo in nature at the beginning of the week and then again at the end. Describe the changes that you see.     | Cook a meal for your family. Write about your recipe, what went well, what could be improved, and what your family thought of it.                                               | Do the washing up or hoovering at least three times.                                                                                                                                                        |
